So, let's take a walk together.

The so-called "casa longobarda" on the way to the center of Asolo; actually the 16th-century house of the architect Francesco Graziolo, whose eccentric taste is well expressed in the choice of the symbolic and original decorations of the architecture

Asolo is a beautiful and romantic town on a hilltop surrounded by villas, vineyards and olive trees. Take the time to wander around the small town, it is incredibly beautiful. If you are not in the area, read through the blogpost "Asolando" by Getmehomefortea and you agree.
